

IMPROVED SOUND AND VIBRATION DEVICE IN A MOTOR VEHICLE ELECTRICAL DISTRIBUTION BOX

Abstract

The invention relates to an improved sound and vibration device in a motor vehicle electrical distribution box. The inventive device comprises a structure for anchoring the structural elements of the aforementioned distribution boxes in such a way as to eliminate any possible sound or vibrations that may be generated as a result of the movement to which said motor vehicle elements are subjected.